Re: Prosecutor Alicia O'Rourke, Esq.

Dear Chief ^{Paul} Paquette:

It is with pleasure that I write this letter to express my gratitude to Attorney and Prosecutor Alicia O'Rourke of your department for her recent guest lecturer appearance at New England College. Attorney O'Rourke lectured relative to the career track from college to a position in law enforcement, followed by law school and to her current employ as a prosecutor. Attorney O'Rourke conducted herself in a highly professional manner, and connected well with my students. Her information was very interesting and helpful to those students that are considering similar paths of interest. Alicia's high level of motivation and outstanding classroom management skills helped to keep the students interested. She represented your department with distinction and honor.

The presence of Attorney O'Rourke was indeed a special honor for me, albeit one that made me feel a bit older. She was a student of mine during her undergraduate studies some years ago. I remember her as an articulate, motivated and engaged individual—those qualities still hold today. I am very proud of her. With Alicia as your prosecutor, your legal bureau is well represented.

Please take a moment to thank Attorney O'Rourke for me, and kindly place a copy of this letter into her personnel file. It's great to know that the Allentown Police Department is willing to collaborate with area educational institutions, which is of mutual benefit to both of us.

Thank you for permitting her presence at New England College. I wish you and Attorney O'Rourke all the best.

Sincerely,

Professor Frank E. Jones, M.A.
