

LEGISLATIVE BULLETIN

Welcome to the 2016 Legislative Bulletin!

Bulletin #1, 2016 Session
December 17, 2015

No doubt readers have missed the Bulletin as much as we have missed writing it. With the legislature set to convene the first full week in January, it is time to get ready for what promises to be an eventful year.

This first issue contains information on bills that have been released, an update on some unfinished business from last year, and the first installment of our new feature, The Edge. The second issue of the Legislative Bulletin will be published shortly before New Year’s Day, and publication will then continue weekly through the end of the legislative session. We will post the Bulletin on the NHMA website every Friday afternoon and send it electronically to as many members as we can. We would love to reduce our photocopying and postage costs (ultimately paid by our members!), so if you are still receiving the Bulletin by U.S. mail and would prefer to get it electronically instead, please let us know.

As required by the New Hampshire Constitution, the House and Senate will both convene on the Wednesday following the first Tuesday in January, which in 2016 is January 6. Over 500 bills have already been released, with more to come, and hearings are likely to begin the week of January 11.

As of this writing, although many bills have been drafted and signed off on, there is not yet a list of bills on the legislature’s website, nor can you find a bill using the usual search function. Instead, you can get to a bill only through the legislative service request (LSR) that generated the bill. It is possible that this will have changed by the time you read this, but if not, you will need to go to the LSR search page and either search by LSR number (if you know it), search by a word within the title, or click on the indicated link to see a list of all LSRs. Once you find the LSR title, there will be a link showing the corresponding bill number. Click on that link to see the text of the bill. A list of all new bills, with links to their text, should appear in the very near future.

The legislative website is a tremendous resource, providing easy and quick

Unfinished Business

An unusually large number of 2015 bills were either retained or sent to study committees. This resulted in an unusual amount of legislative activity over the summer and fall, which in turn means the House and Senate will be acting on a large number of leftover issues beginning in January. Here are a few of the items of particular significance to cities and towns:

Municipal liability. Last year's SB 41 created a committee to study "government immunity from suit and accountability by its citizens." This was precipitated by concern, primarily among trial lawyers, about recent court decisions that have reinforced municipalities' limited immunity from lawsuits for personal injuries. After much discussion and debate, the study committee recommended filing a bill that would significantly expand municipalities' exposure to lawsuits. This should be of grave concern to all local officials and taxpayers.

As of this writing, the bill has not been released, but the LSR number is 2016-2825, and the title is "relative to governmental liability for negligence claims." We will be writing much more about this in future editions, so please watch for updates and be prepared to talk to your legislators about this legislation. This may be one of the most important issues of 2016.

Accessory dwelling units. After the Senate passed SB 146, requiring municipalities to allow accessory dwelling units (ADUs) in all residential zones, the House Municipal & County Government Committee retained the bill. After lengthy negotiation and debate, the committee has recommended the bill with a significant amendment that provides more flexibility for municipalities to deal with ADUs. The amended language can be found here.

The bill will go to the full House in January, with a recommendation of Ought to Pass with Amendment. Assuming it passes the House, the bill will then go back to the Senate, which will decide whether to concur with the amendment or to request a committee of conference. We do expect that the bill will eventually pass both

THE EDGE

Editor's note: The Edge is a new weekly feature of the Legislative Bulletin. Written by Government Affairs Counsel Cordell Johnston, it will provide interesting (he hopes), if not always useful, information on a topic related to the legislative process, municipal government, New Hampshire politics, or whatever else percolates to the surface.

Deciphering legislative license plates

You're driving on I-93 and a car with legislative plates blows by you at 90 mph. You note the plate number, 4-13, so you can "out" this scofflaw in a huffy letter to the editor (unless, of course, you learn that he's a member of your own party).

But how do you trace the license number to a legislator? What does that number mean?

For senators, the license number is a one- or two-digit number, 1 through 24, indicating the senator's district. For House members, however, the license number is the representative's seat number in the House chamber.

There are five seating sections in Representatives' Hall, and the seats in each section are numbered sequentially. (There are no row numbers.) Thus, the representative with plate number chambers in substantially the form recommended by the House committee.

One important change is that the bill's effective date is June 1, 2017. This will give all towns a full town meeting season to amend their zoning ordinances if necessary. We will provide more information on the subject as the legislation progresses, but we recommend that planning boards start looking at their zoning ordinances now and thinking about what changes may need to be recommended in 2017.

Valuation of telephone poles. Officially, HB 547, dealing with valuation of telephone poles for property tax purposes, died in a committee of conference, but the issue was subsequently taken up by the Assessing Standards Board at the request of the Senate. An ASB subcommittee spent many hours on the issue, and the ASB is recommending that an approach to valuation be put into statute. The ASB sent a letter to the legislature this week requesting additional time to come up with statutory language, and a new subcommittee is going to work on the issue over the next month.

A new bill, HB 1198, has been filed as a "placeholder" for the language that ultimately will come from the ASB. HB 1198 as introduced is identical to the version of HB 547 passed by the House in 2015. That language is unacceptable, but it is understood that it will be replaced with the ASB's recommended language once it becomes available. We will provide updates on the ASB's deliberations in the coming weeks.

Meals and rooms tax distribution. Last session's SB 213 created a study committee to review the current formula for distributing meals and room tax revenue to municipalities and to consider alternative methods for municipalities to address the high cost of providing tourism-related services. The committee learned that under the current collection process, the Department of Revenue Administration (DRA) is unable to trace meals and rooms tax revenue by municipality, because many of the businesses that remit the tax have multiple locations. This makes it impossible (without changing the reporting system) to base the distribution formula on where the money comes from. (The current distribution formula is based on population estimates.) The committee also learned that most states provide some form of a local-option tax or fee, often collected at the state level and then remitted to the municipality.

In its final report, the committee recommended 1) that enabling legislation could authorize the adoption of a local-option tax to be collected by DRA and remitted to the municipality where it was generated, and 2) that legislation could provide for the distribution of any excess meals and rooms tax revenue (beyond the additional 4-13 sits in section 4, seat 13.

But how do you find a representative by seat number? On the House of Representatives' web page, click on Find a Legislator, then Rosier Downloads, and download the "Text Delimited" document. Each representative's seat number is shown as a four-digit number immediately after his or her legislative district. Seat number 4-13, for example, would show up as 4013. Just search for that number.

Two items of "seat trivia," for which we must thank House Judiciary Chairman Bob Rowe, who shared the information one day during a slow House session: First, in a nod to superstition, there is no seat 13 in any section. (So the number we've been using here is fictional — of course.) Second, there is officially a sixth section in Representatives' Hall, which consists solely of the Speaker's chair. Officially, then, the Speaker's seat number is 6-1.

Now, how do seats get assigned? Let's not get into that!

$5 million that is supposed to be added each year to the municipal distribution) based on where it was generated, rather than on population. Several bills have been filed on this issue, including HB 1214, which authorizes a local-option hotel surcharge, HB 1173, which requires DRA to collect information on where meals and rooms tax revenue is generated, and LSR 2016-2703, titled “relative to the disposition of meals and rooms tax revenues to towns and cities.”

Road usage fee. The “Commission to Study Revenue Alternatives to the Road Toll for Electric-Powered and Hybrid Vehicles for the Funding of Improvements to the State’s Highways and Bridges” identified the overall increase in fuel efficiency of vehicles, not just electric-powered and hybrid vehicles, as the root cause of declining highway fund revenues. After numerous meetings and extensive information provided by the Department of Transportation, the commission recommended enactment of a road usage fee as a “fair and effective solution to the state’s transportation funding needs.” This fee would be collected locally through the existing annual motor vehicle registration process. The commission further recommended that municipalities receive 12% of the revenue generated as currently required under the highway block grant apportionment formula, and that municipalities be held harmless financially for start-up and operating costs to implement this fee. HB 1602 has been filed to enact the commission’s recommendations.

Right-to-Know Law. The Senate Judiciary Committee re-referred HB 285, which would allow public bodies to enter non-public session to consider correspondence received from legal counsel. The Attorney General’s office has recommended some revised language, which we believe is acceptable, and the Judiciary Committee will take up the bill in the near future. We are optimistic that it will recommend the bill with the AG’s revision. If so, the bill will go to the full Senate for a vote early in 2016, and if it passes the Senate, it will go back to the House to concur or request a committee of conference.

Flagger and police details. Last year’s SB 234 created a committee to study the issue of using police officers or non-police flaggers for traffic control when utility companies are performing work in municipal rights-of-way. A working group of interested parties came up with proposed legislation over the summer, which the committee has recommended. A Senate bill incorporating that language has been filed, but the bill has not been released yet, so we do not know the bill number. The LSR number for the bill is 2016-2808, and the title of the bill will be “relative to traffic control measures.”

Essentially, the bill states that municipalities may require private companies to pay for police details if the requirement is based on legitimate safety concerns, and if police would be used for a municipal project under similar circumstances. We believe the legislation provides an appropriate level of local control, but municipal officials who have concerns are encouraged to contact us and speak to their legislators.
